COMMUNITY HEALTH LEADERS PARTNER – PROCURA AND MEDSHARE TO DELIVER MOBILE HEALTHCARE SOLUTION

(December 9, 2008) Victoria, BC – Procura announced today that it has entered into a partnership with MedShare to deliver a fully integrated Back Office and Point-of-Care solution. The MedShare for BlackBerry™ and the MedShare eMotion tablet solution will be integrated with Procura’s industry leading home and community care solution.

“MedShare’s vision is to support mobile home health care workers by providing them with access to health information, decision support and care documentation tools at the point of care,” says Barry Billings, President of MedShare. “Procura is recognized as a leader in agency management solutions and we have worked for over a year to integrate the two solutions to ensure that mobile home health workers have access to all pertinent information in the client’s home.”

A 2005 study showed that the 2.1 million home health care workers in North America spend approximately 31% of their time on inefficient paper-based administrative processes. By implementing an electronic health record as well as mobile point of care devices, it is estimated that administrative time can be reduced by as much as 10%, adding much needed direct client care time to a resource-constrained health care sector.

“In a time when homecare organizations face a continuing shortage of nursing resources, information technology is key in driving the efficiency and effectiveness of care delivered,” comments Warren Brown, President of Procura. “MedShare has made a significant investment to meet the needs of the sector and deliver improved health outcomes, client safety and quality of care. We are excited to offer MedShare’s innovative mobile applications to our customer base.”

Procura and MedShare will jointly sell, implement and support their best of class platforms throughout Canada. The partnership is supported by two of Canada's largest home health organizations.
